AN ARGENTIFEROUS SENSATION FROM VENTURA COUNTY.

Some of our readers are familiar with a tradition that the Jesuit Fathers who once conducted the San Buenavenma, Santa Barbara, San Ynez, La water is also unsurpassed in purity and soft Purissima and San Fernando Missions once successfully worked a mine loance successfully worked a mine located, probably, in what is now Ventura county. Tradition has it that the mine was worked near the beginning of the present century, after which it beautiful the mine was evered with earth and all trace of the more favorable location for the mine was covered with earth and all trace of the more favorable location for the mine was covered with earth and all trace of the more favorable location for the mine was covered with earth and all trace of the mine was covered with earth and all trace of the mine was covered with earth and all trace of the mine was covered with earth and all trace of the healthlest in Southern California. But about three weeks ago a pro-besional prospector, a gentleman thoroughly conversant with the mines of Arizona, New Mexico and Colorado, tracing the Calico ledge into this county, accidentally came upon an old numel penetrating the side of a mount-in, which he believes to be the lost lesuit mine. He roughly estimates the length to be 300 or 400 feet, with the sides "coytied" in various direc-tions. This gentleman and his partner the sides "coyled in various directions. This gentleman and his partner were attracted to the spot by seeing attonwood trees growing on the side of a mountain, and after reaching the spot they found them growing in the spot they found them growing in the mouth of a tunnel. Their appearance indicated that outonwood limbs had been placed on and at the mouth of the tunnel and owered with earth, the dampness from within having caused them to grow. But the earth caved in, and, washed by the rains of probably 60 or 70 winters, exposed the tunnel which had been so effectually concealed.

Near by was found the remains of all smelting works, and a silver brick weighing about one pound, which the mespector exhibited to us yesterday, was picked up. This prospector, who

This prospector, who am musually intelligent man, first raced the Calico ledge into Arizona, ten returning he traced it into Ventura caunty, and believes that he has found ledge of mineral far more valuable than the Waterman or any other mine it discovered in San Bernardino caunty. The specimens exhibited to sindicate rich ore, some of them carging free gold, and if once developed that be a source of immense revenue with sounty. The ledge is an extensive one and can easily be worked.

We are not at liberty at present to the hocation or reveal the names of the parties interested in this find. UNIVERSITY PLACE, Dec. 3. — [Corespondence of The Times.] Building continues brisk with an upward tendency. At least half a dozen new buildings have been projected, most of which are in process of erection, since my last. Mrs. Sexton is building a residence costing $2000, on Jefferson street, a little above Vermont avenue. J. M. Stewart has added a second story to his home on Figueroa, making a very tasty appearance. drifts from Des Moines, Iowa, some two weeks ago, arriving here safely, and too happy for expression. He thinks Iowa, though a great, prosperous State, a good place to move away from. He is a man that means business. Without delay, he purchased ample grounds in the orange grove of J. M. Stewart, on the extension of Flower street, and commenced, as he could not rent a house for love nor money, the erection of a barn to shelter his family till he can build a house. Such was the enthusiasm, that the whole family of six, were either working on the barn, or encouraging the workers by their presence and cheery faces. No wonder.

Edgar Goode met with more than a tantalizing accident yesterday afternoon, in the loss of a part of the first joint of a forefinger. It seems that he was leading a span of horses behind his own team when some fright of the wown team, when some fright of the horses drew the halter taut about his hand, doing the mischief. GUARD THE CITY LANDS.

Los Angeles, Dec. 4. - [To the Editor of THE TIMES. | As a property owner, and one who has the good of this city and county at heart, I want to call your attention to the proposition now on foot, and which seems to be nearly consummated, by which it is proposed that the city of Los Angeles proposed that the city of Los Angeles transfer to the Riverside and Santa Ana Railroad Company the fund of about $6000, contributed by the property owners along the river front for the purpose of constructing a levee along the river, and also that the city convey to the said company all of its lands lying along the river from Mission street to the extreme southern ands lying along the river from Mission street to the extreme southern boundary of the city, and embracing about sixty acres, upon the condition that the company construct a levee along the westerly bank of the river. Of course no valid objection can be urged to the transfer, upon such conditions, of the fund contributed by the property over the granting. property-owners, not to the granting to the Riverside and Santa Ana Railroad Company the right of way over the city lands as well as all necessary terminal facilities. But to grant to that company or any other company all of the city lands along the river all of the city lands along the river front, and especially so large a tract as sixty acres, would clearly be to give to that company a monopoly of the river front and completely shut out any and all other rival companies. Los Angeles is now a thriving city and a very important shipping point. It is destined to become much more so. It therefore behoves those who have charge of the affairs of the city to look to the future as well as at the present, and to guard well every avenue of approach to guard well every avenue of approach to it. Already there are competing lines of railway centering here, and others are sure to come. It is therefore of vital importance that the city reserve for them all the right to enter its doors and all necessary and proper terminal facilities. Besides, every body knows that the existence of railroad tracks and the running of steam engines through the public, traveléd streets of a city is a great public inconvenience and is fraught with great danger. In time, no doubt, it will be found convenient and necessary to have the railroad tracks removed from Alameda and San Pedro streets and to run them all along the river front. If the city retains the strip of land it owns along the westerly bank of the river, this can easily be accomplished, but if it conveys it all away to one company it cannot be.

I therefore respectfully call your attention, as a public journalist, whose interest as well as duty it is, to look out for and to guard in part the interest of the well-is regiments.

for and to guard in part the interest of the public, to give this matter the atten-tion its importance deserves and to im-press upon the Mayor and Council the impropriety of granting to any company the lands in question. Very respect-fully, PROPERTY OWNER.

DR. FRENCH AND HIGH LICENSE.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] The Tribune tried to show, yesterday, that the now-Republican candidate for the mayoralty was in favor of high license and that he voted for it. At the only time when high license for retail dealers was before the Council, and the only time when a vote could decide the question, he voted He never said that $50 was too "no." He never said that $50 was too small a tax on liquor selling, or if so, it was never said in a voice that reached the members of that body. When the moment came that this beneficent measure was to be voted upon he valiantly (?) moved to postpone one week.

When asked why it should be postponed, he replied, "It's so hot!" And verily it was a hot time for the shuffling will take possession of the vacated house owned by Rev. F. B. Bovard, of San Francisco, late professor in the University.

F. B. Harbert will commence the erection of a $1000 cottage on Dana street immediately. Mr. Long will begin next week a house of eight rooms near the Ladies' Dormitory.

Mr. Armstrong, from Ohio, after looking the country over, was so impressed with the outlook of this place, from a business standpoint and otherwise, that he has purchased two lots near the station with a view of starting the grocery and drug business combined. This is a felt want, and there is little doubt but Mr. A. will congratulate the would have been to vote against the would have been to vote against the would have been to vote against.

near the station with a view of starting the grocery and drug business combined. This is a felt want, and there is little doubt but Mr. A. will congratulate thinself on the choice he has made in his location.

J. K. Hawk, a brother-in-law of President Bovard, arrived a short time since, with his family, from Indianapolis, Ind., to make this his home. He is with the Los Angeles Furniture Company.

As to his vote for the ordinance at the last, it was upon the paper as a whole he voted. To have said "no" then would have been to vote against all licenses, high and low, which would have been idiotic. To have been consistent, he should have said "yes" to all but the license on retailing fluors on this "I vote "no." It is on this last vote he relies to show himself a high license man.

HE DID NOT RUN INTO THE CAR. Los Angeles, Dec. 4.—[To the Editor of The Times.] Yesterday's Times now pastor of the M. E. Church at Santa Barbara, entitled "A Journey to Rome and Naples," on Monday evening, 6th inst., at University Church. It will be for the benefit of the Aristotlean Society of the University. Mr. Brown has won quite a reputation in Southern California as a platform speaker. Numerous testimonials from distinguished men and journals in the East. you how it happened if it would not take too much time; but I would like to enter my protest against the manner that the horse cars are run in this city. The railroad companies seem to have lost sight of the fact that Los Angeles is no longer a one-horse town. Some of them compel one horse to haul cars [Correspondence of the Times.] To set at rest all further guessing, Eagle Rock, from which the valley derives its name, has been approximately measured. Conglomerate in substance and globular in form, it stands 132 feet high from base. Circumference at base, 553 feet. Had there been a conductor on the car my buggy would not have been broken. This is a "penny wise and pound fool-ish!" policy. Some one will lose a limb or his life if this policy is continued, and then it will cost the railroad com-pany more than a buggy wheel or the talary of a conductor. Hoping you will insert this in your valuable paper, I remain, yours truly,
